

ABSTRACT

Methods of treating and/or inhibiting a bone morphogenetic protein (BMP)-related disorder or condition by administering a BMP antagonist to a subject suffering from a BMP-related disorder or condition such that the BMP-related disorder or condition is treated. The method is carried out with a human noggin or a human noggin deletion mutant.